Still Creek Surgical Centre Opens in Burnaby, Expanding Access to Accredited Surgical Care in British Columbia

BURNABY, B.C. | February 18, 2026 — Clearpoint Health Network is proud to announce the opening of Still Creek Surgical Centre, a new accredited surgical centre in Burnaby that officially opened in January 2026. The facility is designed to support timely access to high-quality surgical care and enhance capacity for patients in British Columbia.

Still Creek Surgical Centre features four state-of-the-art operating rooms equipped with advanced technology in a modern clinical environment built around patient safety, comfort, and clinical excellence. The opening represents a major milestone in Clearpoint's ongoing commitment to expanding capacity for surgical care for communities across Canada.

“The opening of Still Creek Surgical Centre reflects our focus on delivering safe, high-quality care and helping address growing demand for surgical services in British Columbia. We are proud to support the health and well-being of patients in Burnaby and the surrounding communities by expanding capacity for the surgeries and procedures they need,” said Dr. Ben Guslits, Chief Medical Officer of Clearpoint Health Network.

The centre is staffed by experienced clinical teams and operates within rigorous quality and safety standards. Still Creek Surgical Centre is accredited by the College of Physicians in British Columbia and thoughtfully designed to deliver a positive patient experience from intake through recovery.

Clearpoint Health Network recognized the work and collaboration across its teams that helped bring the new centre to life, including planning, operations, clinical leadership, and medical partners across British Columbia.
